FRIDAY, DEC. 12, 1919.

TWENTY-SIX YEARS AGO

TWENTY-SIX years ago today—Dec. 12, 1893—The Iron County Record was born in a back room on the second floor of what is now the Knell Block. At that time the lower story was doing duty as a furniture store and post office, where the Cedar City Drug Company is housed. Its father was Will C. Higgins, now the brilliant editor of the Salt Lake "Mining Review." Its mother was an old five column Army—or Armstrong—press, capable, with the assistance of two expert people, of grinding out a five column paper, one page at a time, at the rate of two or three hundred per hour.

The publisher was "stung" unmercifully when he paid $500 for a derelict and nearly worn out plant to a Salt Lake publishing establishment. But it did the business and gave to Cedar City its first stable attempt at a newspaper, although Mr. Karl Maeser of Beaver did run a paper here for a few months some years prior to that date.

The present editor and publisher became affiliated with the paper a little more than a year after its birth, and at the end of the second year, when as one of the firm of Wilkinson & Matheson, we purchased the paper, name, good will and subscription list from its founder. We have been identified with the paper ever since, and have possibly been the main factor in the development which the paper has made, from the primitive beginning to its present pretentious size and importance, being one of Cedar City's recognized and potential business institutions.

There have been many changes in Cedar City in 26 years. Most of the imposing business blocks have been erected, the B. A. C. and its predecessor, the B. N. S., have come into being; water system, electric lights, telephone exchanges, the automobile, all have appeared in our process of evolution since The Record was founded and most of them—yes, all of them—have been advocated, boosted and worked for by this paper, which has always been arrayed on the side law, order, good government and progress. It has been our constant aim to keep abreast of the times and supply service in our line of endeavor. At times it has been a hard struggle to keep the paper going and make ends meet. We have seen many of our neighboring papers come and go. They have been born with fair promises, have appeared to flourish for a while, and then have drooped and died. Thus, since the birth of The Record, we have witnessed the appearance and demise of four weekly papers at St. George; of two or three at Beaver; of three at Kanab; of two or three at Richfield; of one at Marysvale, and so on up the line. Yet during all these years The Record has never missed a single issue. It has been subject to adverse conditions, such as a shortage of help, intermittent electrical service and sickness, and has sometimes been two or three days late, but it has always gotten out its 52 issues each year.

At times the outlook was discouraging, and had we been in the business merely for what money there was in it, we must have given up in despair and turned in to other paths to seek a livelihood. But somehow, there is a sort of fascination about the newspaper business which is hard to break away from, and we have held on in the hope that the future held something better in store—believing that Cedar City had a bright future and that it would reward those who held on steadfastly.

That promise is beginning to be fulfilled. Cedar City is becoming known throughout the West as one of the best business towns of its size. Its banking business, its freight imports, its volume of mail and many other things proclaim it as such. This issue of The Record, conceived and determined upon less than two weeks ago, and first announced a week ago, carrying as it does nearly one thousand inches of local advertising, clinches the argument. At times in the past we have been filled with resentment at the apparent lack of appreciation for our efforts, but today we feel that Cedar City has as live a set of business men as one will find anywhere and that it is good to be here among them. We bespeak for them the hearty patronage and support of all local people, and those of neighboring towns who are unable to supply all their wants at home. Our motto should be, "Buy at home. If you can't find what you want at home, buy as near home as you can."

To all our readers, advertisers and friends we extend heartiest Christmas greetings and wish you a joyful holiday season and a happy and prosperous New Year.

JUST HEALTHY GROWTH

WE are not claiming any big boom for the present, at least, for Cedar City. We are fairly prosperous and the town is making satisfactory progress. We are favorably located and are surrounded on every side with resources and attractions which mark us as the most pretentious city in the southern part of the state. We have a larger area of grazing country and more sheep upon the range and pastures than any city, regardless of population in the state. We have our own domestic fuel supply—an abundance of good coal, mined from the mountains near home by our own people—and can laugh at the coal strike and the fears of the balance of the United States. We have near us the greatest undeveloped iron deposits in the world, which are bound ultimately to make us a second Pittsburgh. We have the best educational advantages of any city of similar population in the West, including a branch of the Utah Agricultural College. We have a large and fertile valley and our agricultural possibilities have as yet been scarcely scratched. With the addition of the water of Duck Lake and the development of our artesian well supply, we will have a valley capable of sustaining two or three times our present population and of supplying beets for a sugar factory. We already have a fairly good hotel, but have a large 100-room hostelry planned and well under way. We have a number of good stores, two good banks, a good lumber yard, three large garages and a number of other up-to-the-minute business establishments, and room for a number more.

We have some of the richest and most fascinating scenery to be found out of doors in our canyons, and a good automobile road under way to permit the tourist to get to it with comfort. We are situated on the direct line of travel over the Arrowhead Trail and from the railroad to the new national park at Little Zion. We have a healthful and pleasant climate and an excellent citizenship, nearly all being boosters for their part of the country, and willing to do everything in their power to advance the interests of the community and country.

Taking it all in all, we have
